FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
September 22, 2016

(Wichita Kansas)- Susan Peters has a passion for women achievers, and a passion for the people of Kansas. Peters retired recently from KAKE TV where she worked as an anchor between 1983 and 1991, and again from 1995 until 2016. She will be sharing this passion with the Wichita Chapter of NAWBO on October 13 at a luncheon meeting where she will be addressing “When Anchorwomen Replaced Anchormen”. Susan will share with us the challenges she faced in a “newsman’s” world and how one special assignment taught her the true meaning of success. You might say she broke the glass ceiling in her field.

Ms. Peters is an Emmy-Award winning reporter and anchor. She received the Silver Circle Emmy Award in 2015 from the National Association of Television Arts and Sciences. The award recognizes excellence in a broadcaster’s entire body of work. Peters began “Susan’s Kids” in 2000 as one of her passions. This series showcased adoptable children in the foster system and resulted in accelerated matches, placements, and adoptions. Her retirement plans are to continue “Susan’s Kids”.

NAWBO sponsors a monthly meeting for its members and guests. The October 13 meeting will be held at the Wichita Bar Association office, 225 N. Market. Reservations are required, and can be purchased online at www.nawbowichita.com.

The National Association of Women Business Owners (NAWBO) evolved from a group of like-minded business women who began meeting in 1975. It now has more than 50 chapters nationwide, and is affiliated with the Worldwide Association of Women Entrepreneurs. NAWBO Wichita seeks to illuminate and transform the wide-ranging community of women business owners through empowerment with information and skills for success. More information on future programs and activities can be found online on Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, and Instagram.
